

How can Sinclair Broadcasting use the public airwaves free of charge and then require their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election? It is scary when such a large company uses their power in a partisan way to sway public view rather than serve the overall public. I'd be just as upset if they were requiring their stations to air an anti-Bush piece. It's a wrong use of their power!

How is it that the FCC has allowed one company to acquire so many media outlets? It's time to change the rules regarding media ownership and the license renewal process! It's time to reconsider Sinclair's licenses.

Thank you.
